1. Classified Bulletin Board Design

It was the consensus of the Commission that the classified bulletin board should conform to the standard bulletin board design with respect to the type face used in the titles and the general construction of the board. The Commission rejected the three design proposals as being in violation of the basic design of the central court area. The Commission felt that employees would be attracted to the new board by its content and it was therefore unnecessary to surround the board with large graphics or bright colors. The Chairman will make the Commission's views known to the appropriate people.

2. Signs in the "Johns"

STATINTL The Commission accented Mr. Thuermer's wording for the new sign. [REDACTED] will see that the signs are reproduced and installed.

3. Employee Suggestion: "No Smoking" Signs in Elevators

STATINTL

The Commission felt that "No Smoking" signs in the elevators would not be appropriate since there are no ash trays in the elevators. It was decided that a small sign should be placed above each ash tray in every elevator lobby. [REDACTED] will design the sign.

4. Employee Suggestion: Craft Sales to Benefit the Education Fund

The Commission felt that craft sales should be handled by EAA. The Commission plans an exhibition of employee-produced crafts early next year. STATINTL
